Alemany High School
San Fernando, California

1958

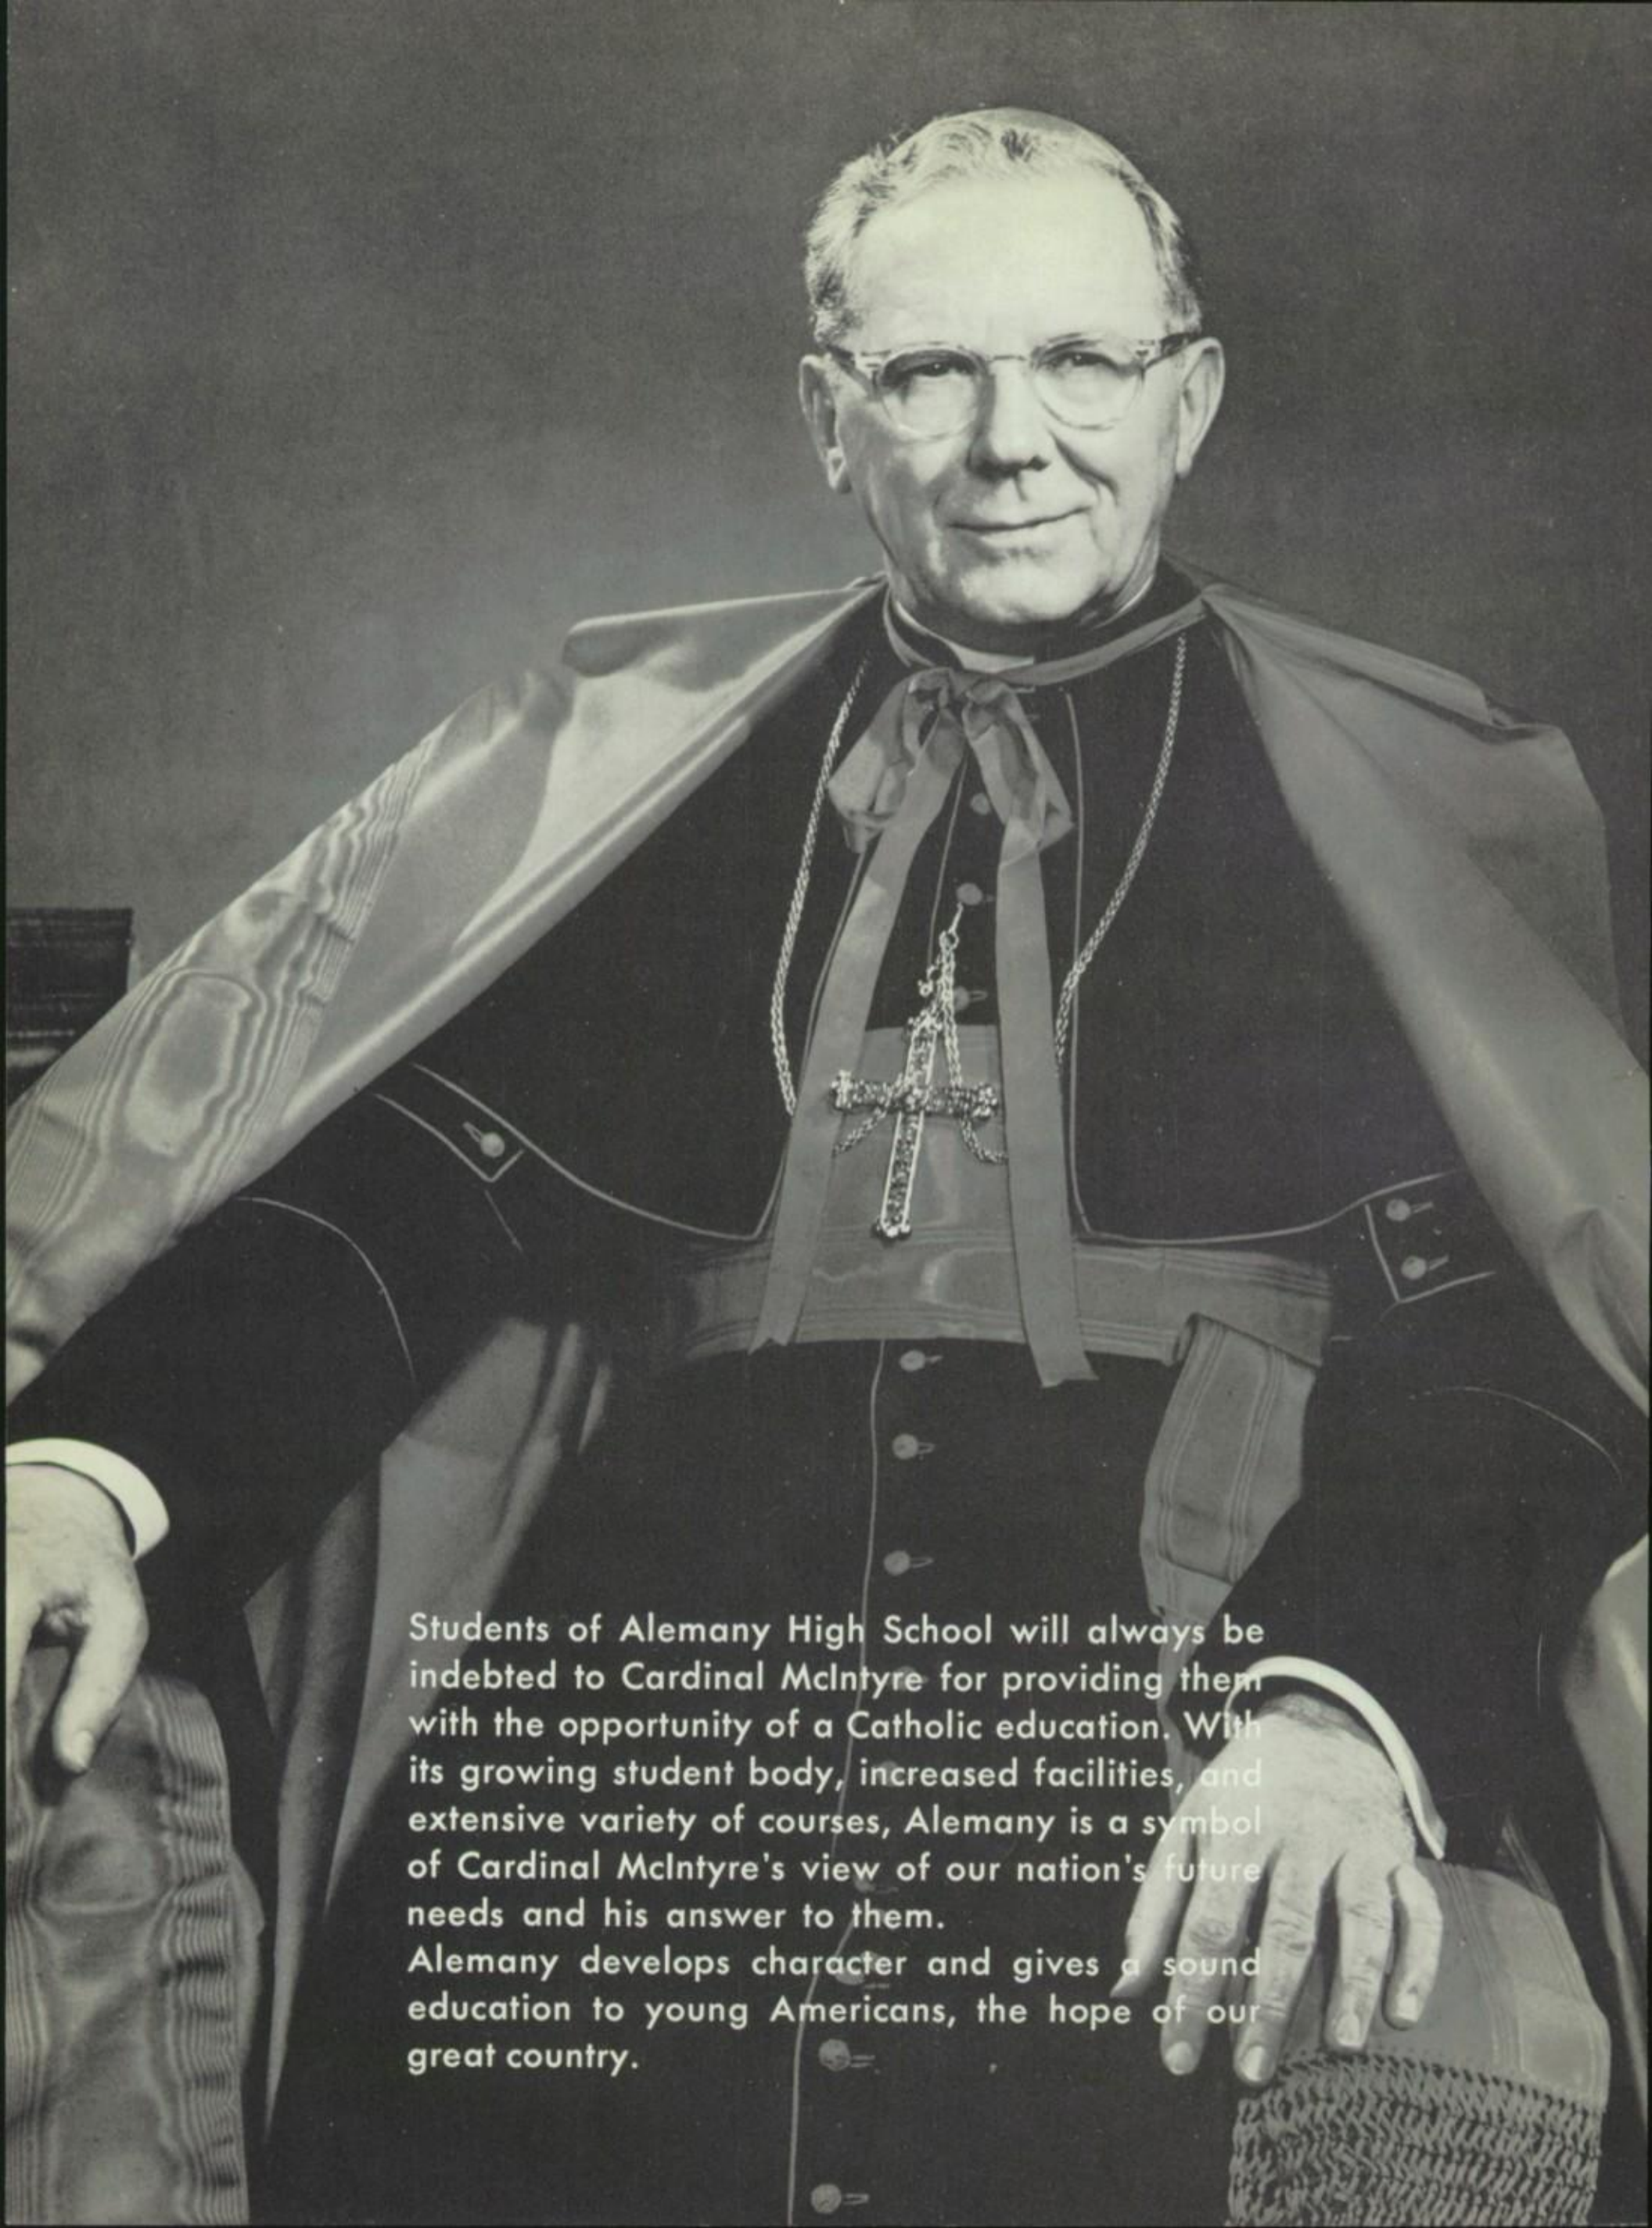

A song can bring back memories and Alemany's "Alma Mater" brings back many. Each line reminds us of happy school days, of friends in the student body, and of the sportsmanship displayed in competitive and intramural games. It recalls the pride we took in our new school buildings and reminds us of the privilege of attending daily Mass in our chapel. Our "Alma Mater" reflects the unity and spirit of Alemany, and that is why we use it as our theme in RECUERDOS '58.

We the class of 1958, invoking the powerful protection of Our Lady, lovingly dedicate this yearbook to her as the world commemorates the centennial of her miraculous apparitions at Lourdes.

Students of Alemany High School will always be indebted to Cardinal McIntyre for providing them with the opportunity of a Catholic education. With its growing student body, increased facilities, and extensive variety of courses, Alemany is a symbol of Cardinal McIntyre's view of our nation's future needs and his answer to them. Alemany develops character and gives a sound education to young Americans, the hope of our great country.

To the Students of
ALEMANY HIGH SCHOOL
1029 Coronel Street
San Fernando, California

My dear Students:

As Alemany High School makes a marked progress in its cultural development, our imagination is stimulated with the hope and prayer that the spiritual development of this magnificent school will grow in even greater proportions.

This splendid location of your school in a very beautiful part of the valley, provides surroundings that should encourage a substantial intellectual and spiritual accomplishment.

Praying for you all blessings, and with sincere best wishes, I am

Faithfully yours,

ARCHBISHOP

Los Angeles

Hail to Green and Gold

Our Colors

Centrally located in the historic San Fernando Valley, Alemany High School educates students from fifteen surrounding cities. Reflecting modern ideas and foresight, two new classroom structures and a spacious, well-equipped gym have been added this year to accommodate increasing numbers and to fulfill mounting educational needs. Paralleling this expansion of campus and enrollment, the Alemany spirit, deriving from traditional ties with the colorful San Fernando Mission, has become ever stronger and, in its effects, more visible.

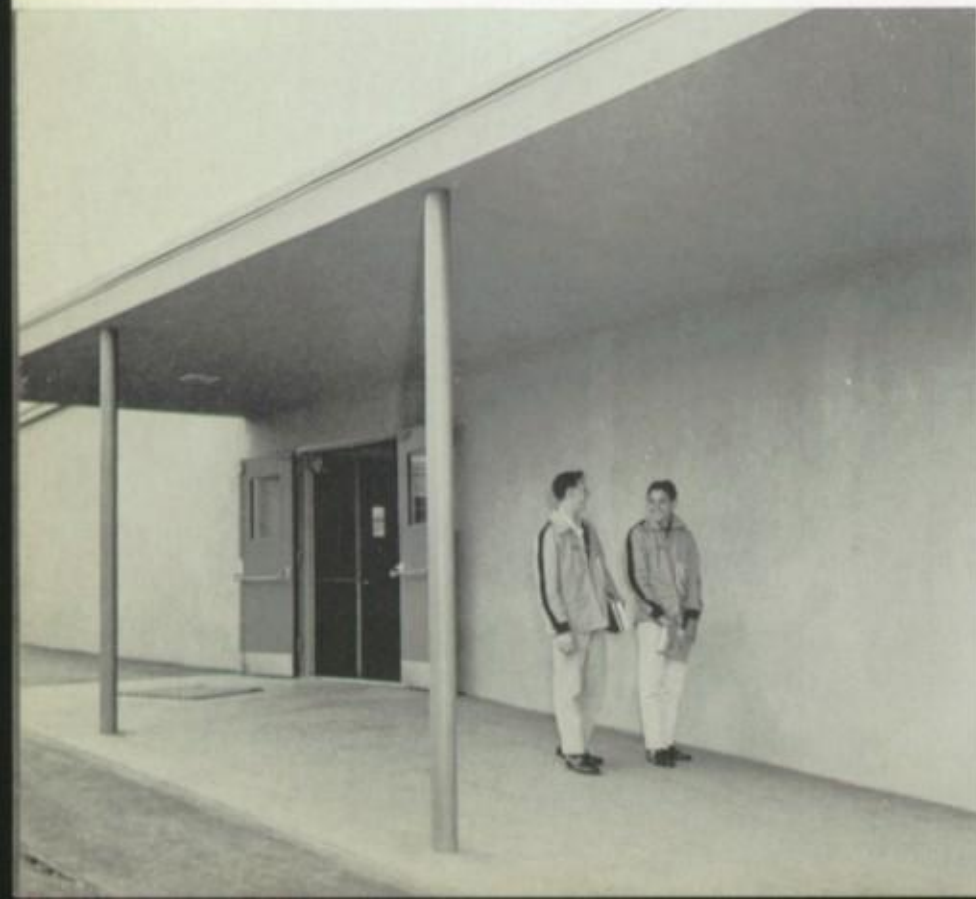

Campus Grows with Student Increase

Administration building is center of activity.

Students welcome new building.

Girls appreciate new addition.

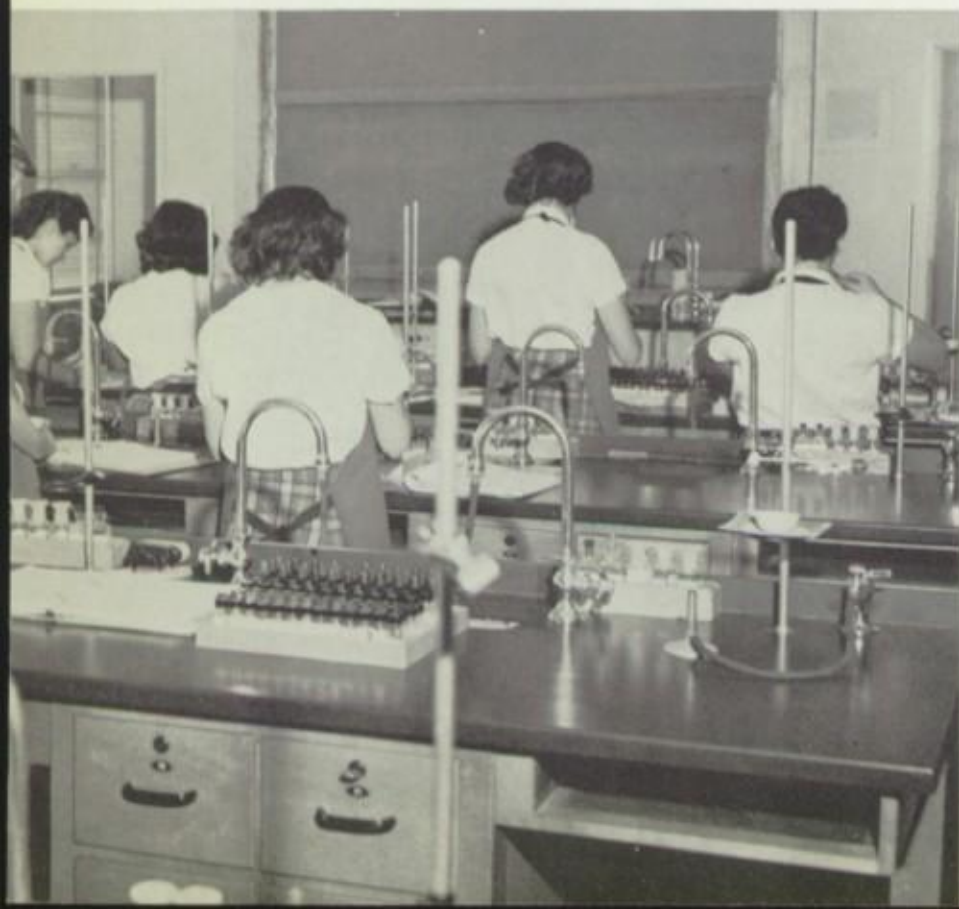

The new, modern facilities of Alemany High School are steadily growing as the student body increases. Already this year two new buildings and a gym have been added. Some conveniences worthy of praise are the spacious science laboratories, the excellent business machines, and the modern electronic public-address system.

School records are kept efficiently in office.

Chemistry lab offers latest equipment.

Students prepare for business world.

Faculty room offers opportunity for relaxation.

Boys prepare for morning classes in new building.

Good Facilities Assist Education

Under the Oblate Fathers of Mary Immaculate, Alemany Boys' Department offers its students a broad educational agenda and enriching extra-curricular activities.

Well-equipped laboratory promotes biological interest.

Lecture hall provides scholastic atmosphere.

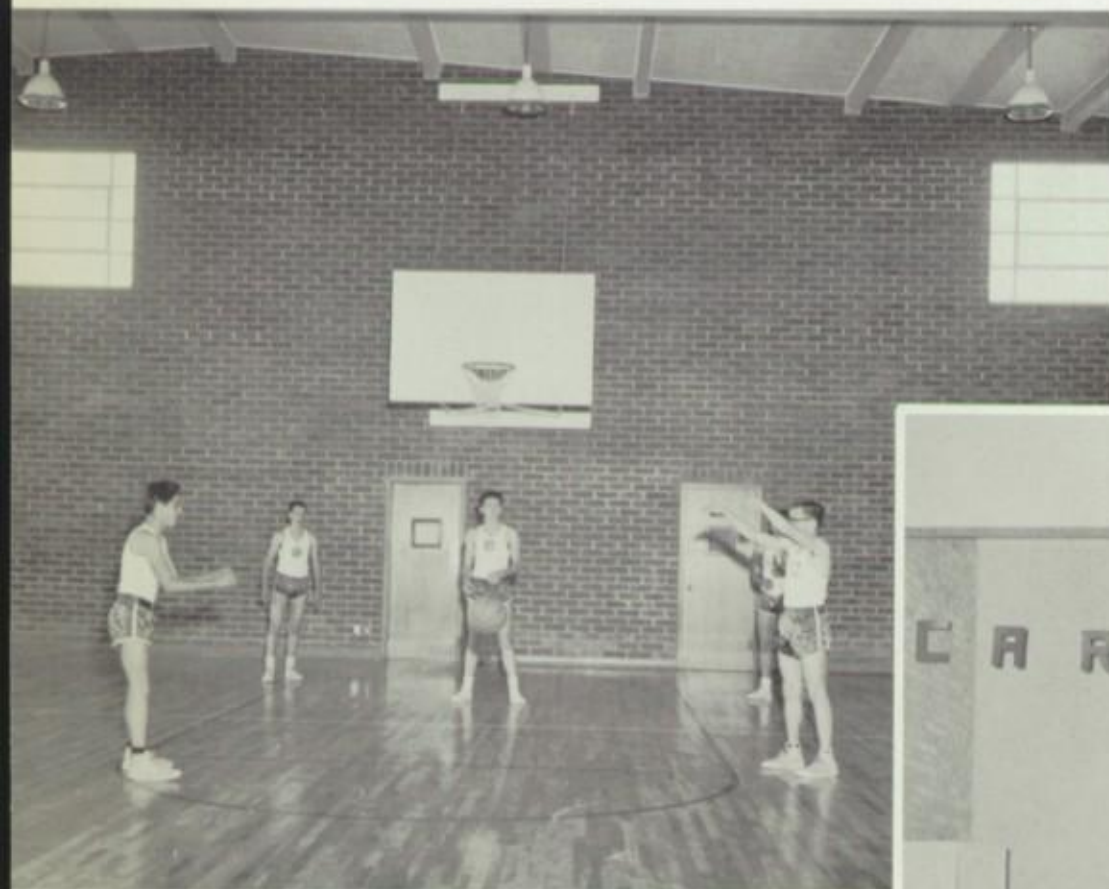

Students appreciate the advantages of a new gym.

New Gym Hosts School Activities

Our new brick gymnasium with floor to ceiling bleachers gives the students splendid opportunities to view games, programs, meetings, and social functions throughout the year.

Stage enhances school programs.

Basketball skills improve on new courts.

Administrators Assist Students

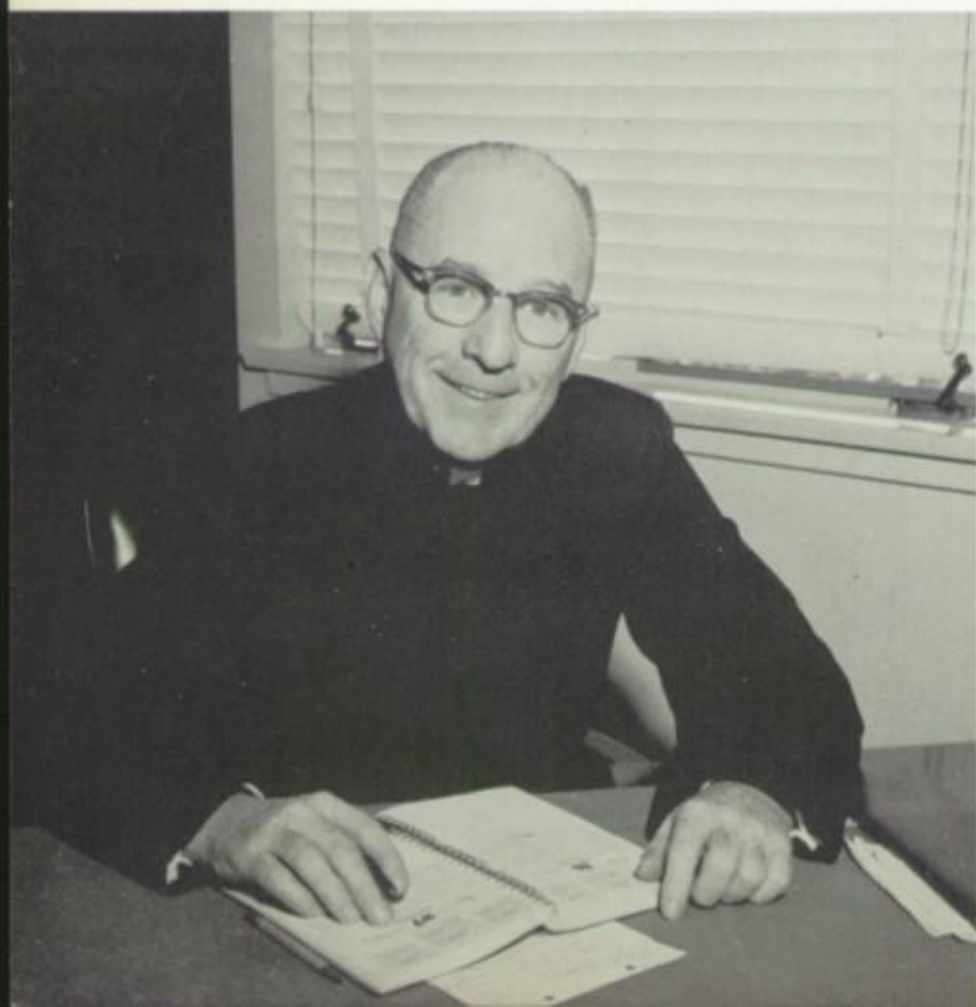

Rev. James B. Clyne
Coordinator

Through the combined administrative efforts of Alemany's coordinator and the principals of both boys' and girls' departments, Alemany secures for its students the maximum of educational benefits—physical, spiritual, cultural, and social.

Oblates of Mary Instruct Boys

Staffing the boys' department of Alemany High School are the Oblates of Mary Immaculate. This world-wide community of religious priests now numbering over 7000, was founded in France in 1816 by Reverend Charles De Mazenod, later the Bishop of Marseilles.

In 1841 the Oblates established their first mission in the United States in Oregon, and their community extended its work into California in 1923. There are now 30 Oblates working in the San Fernando area.

Since the aim of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate is to preach the Gospel, their priests endeavor to bring the Gospel maxims into the lives of their students by instructing them in the truths of our religion and those branches of knowledge necessary for a truly Christlike life. Assisting the Oblates are competent and dedicated lay teachers.

Educators Form Versatile Students

To enrich the scholastic program of Alemany High School, electives of music, art, and drama are offered. Further concern for cultural enrichment is evident in the well-catalogued, student-accessible library which helps to foster lasting reading habits and research techniques. Together with these advantages the sports program helps to develop in students a sound mind in a sound body.

Sisters of St. Joseph Instruct Girls

Directing the girls at Alemany High School are the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet who trace their origin to the community founded in 1650 at Le Puy, France, by Bishop Henry de Maupas and Father John Medaille, S J. During the French Revolution the sisters were forced to disband, but 18 years later, in 1807, the community was refounded by Mother St. John Fontbonne.

In 1836 an appeal for Sisters came to Mother St. John in Lyon, France, from Bishop Rosati of St. Louis, Missouri. Six Sisters answered this call to begin the community's work in the United States. Carondelet, Missouri, was chosen as the new mother house. Besides teaching in schools, the Sisters established hospitals, orphanages, and schools for the deaf. Today there are over 7000 Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet laboring in God's vineyard in the United States, Hawaii and Japan.

In Memoriam

Sister Mary Eugene, CSJ, was adviser of the senior class during her brief stay at Alemany before God called her to His eternal home. She will always remain a memory to the Alemany students as one of God's special instructors of youth.

Loyal Students We

Alemanys students anticipate graduation with mixed emotions. Having had all advantages of a Catholic education through the sacrifices of their parents, the graduates are prepared to apply their knowledge to their own lives. They recall school activities, friends, and teachers. Though sorry to leave these, they are anxious to receive diplomas and take a further step to their goal by carrying the Alemany spirit of loyalty to God and others into business, school, religion, and Catholic home life.

Tomorrow's Leaders Prepare Today

Reviewing our senior year we recall the happy memories shared. Alemany blossomed with our bright fire sweaters and Father McDonald blessed our senior rings at a solemn ceremony. In December the practice of Kris Kringle warmed our hearts, and we enjoyed taking part in the musical Christmas program. Our first student body dance was held in our new gym in January. The annual retreat, our last as high school students, held great solemnity for us. May came with its beautiful honoring of our Blessed Mother. The Junior-Senior Prom will always remain a memory symbolic of happy youth. With graduation comes the realization that ours is now the task of living out our lessons of Catholic life. To our parents, the priests, to the Sisters, and to the rest of the faculty we extend our gratitude.

Leading the Class of '58 through a busy and successful year are its class officers, Dolores Czerniak, Mary Lannert (president), Geraldine Murray, and Patricia Hickey.

Blessing of Rings Stimulates Loyalty

A great moment in every senior's life is the receiving of her senior ring. This ring will serve to remind her in the years to come of the important lessons of loyalty to God, country, family and self that she learned at Alemany. At the traditional ring blessing ceremony Reverend Joseph McDonald, OMI, gives Janyth Fox her ring while Judith Kill, Lillian Schoenmann, Kathleen Phelan, and Helen Aragon await their turns.

Future Plans Determine Junior Courses

Discussing plans for the Junior-Senior Prom are the class officers of 11s2, Deanna Zabik, Judith Dusserre, Eileen McIlroy and Judith Peterman.

Sharing ideas for the Junior Jinx are class officers of 11s1, Linda Jarboe, Carol Kroll and Jo Ann Carr.

Glancing over the 1957-1958 school calendar, we find that our junior year has been memorable for many things. It was a time of decision when we chose courses to prepare us for our future. Science, a new experience for us, was added to our curriculum. During this year we adopted our class name, the "Laurels," and the class song. St. Agnes, our patron, continued to assist us in our studies. Celebrating birthdays monthly contributed to class unity. The Junior Jinx, our main project, resulted in a grand success. Quickly the year drew to a close with the magnificent climax of the Junior-Senior Prom. With these happy days now only a memory, we eagerly anticipate our senior year.

Changing from a freshman to a sophomore this year was a new experience for our 146 girls. The remarkable feeling of unity in our large class became even more apparent. When new subjects were introduced to us, we adjusted ourselves readily. We grew accustomed to studying the theorems of geometry, comprehending the story of Julius Caesar in Latin II, and enjoying the fun of exploring modern history. With our added maturity, there also came a spiritual growth. On the varsity and junior varsity lists many sophomore names appeared. Winning the privilege of playing the seniors in volleyball, we went into the championship games filled with hope. Although we were defeated, our spirit continued undaunted. With the closing of school, we are looking forward to next September, when we will be upperclassmen.

Enthusiastic freshmen class officers are (standing) Claire Walsh, Nancy Elliott, Susan Delmore, Coleen Streff, Cathleen Lindeman, Carol Dempsey, Catherine Mills, Grace Schiavone, Germaine Kiefer, (seated) Anne Williams, Theresa Condercuri, Balbina Trejo, Cheryll Spezzano, Julie Minardi, Kathleen Grant, Lindo Vold, Linda Lapaz, and Lynnette Burdge, (Absent) Martha Lucey.

Alemany High School, our long-awaited goal, was finally reached. We soon heard tales of Initiation Day, but its reality proved all rumors to be fables. When the day ended, our class was filled with a lively school spirit. With this spirit, we won first place in the magazine drive. Although our schedule was busy, we greatly enjoyed the new changes of classes. We chose St. Theresa as our patron and gold and white became our class colors. With the help of our wonderful faculty, "lovable seniors," and fellow students, we no longer felt new and awkward. Taking advantage of all the opportunities our school offers, we have worked for the advancement of our class and have striven to improve ourselves in order to prepare better for life in this world and in the next.

As the pioneering class of Alemany, we look back on an eventful second year. Our bright charcoal and balboa jackets, arriving early, gave us distinction on the campus. Early in the year our new six-classroom building was opened to us, thereby expanding our educational facilities. In religion, we studied the life of Christ and its application to ourselves. We enjoyed the experiences involved in the learning of new subjects, geometry and biology. Entertainmentwise, we participated whole-heartedly in the student body Christmas program. The new gym built up our morale and led us to greater sports accomplishments. Members of our class were prominent on the football team and comprised the entire varsity in basketball. In our other two sports, track and baseball, our sophomore stars also shone. Scholastically, socially, and athletically our year has been full. Although it has been happy, we are eagerly awaiting the day when we shall be the first junior class of boys at Alemany.

Boys Department Enrolls Second Class

September found us eager to set forth on the second plateau of education. We enjoyed the changing of classes and the new subjects. From grammar school arithmetic we stepped into algebra. Latin and general science proved exciting challenges. Art was a welcome addition to our curriculum. We shall remember especially our part in the Christmas program. Football claimed many of our members as its devotees, and Don Angello made the school "eleven." Later "B" basketball gave opportunity to our top hoopsters. Now as the year closes we find ourselves true Alemanians ready to keep our standards flying through our sophomore year.

True to God and to Each Other

Firm in Loyalty

The chapel on Alemany campus is filled to capacity every morning with students attending Mass and receiving Our Lord in Holy Communion. Joining together daily in prayer, study, and extracurricular activities, Alemany students are brought closer to God and neighbor through the school. Each student brings religious training into his social life in accordance with Catholic ideals and tries to make habitual in his life the living of the Christian principles he has learned.

Sodality Agenda

The girls' spiritual life has been promoted and directed by different religious organizations and activities.

Guiding the Sodality are officers: Mary Jane Nougier, Janice Hosley, Susan Canby (prefect) and Diane Hennen.

Sodalists collect presents for the poor.

Stamps help missions.

Young Christian Students promote prayer.

Care of altar is privilege of sodalists.

Increases Zeal

Honor was brought to Our Blessed Mother through the students' inspiring exhibit of spiritual activities.

May crowning is the pinnacle of Sodality year.

Retreat is a solemn time for seniors.

Pamphlets foster good reading.

Girls are alert for parish news.

Student enrolls in Apostleship of Prayer.

Cooperative student council unifies student body.

Preparing a meeting are student body officers: Mary Ellen Fisher, Diana Bonas, Wana Van Cantfort (president) and Alice Zamora.

The girls' student council has worked diligently to promote and encourage spirit and cooperation in the large, growing student body.

Student Activities

Students listen to president's message.

Boys' student body officers are David Disco (president), Roger Costi, and John Steinberg.

Boys join Catholic Student Mission Club.

Foster Leadership

Boys' student organizations under the guidance and direction of the faculty have developed spirit, order, and cooperation among the student body.

Enthusiastic president addresses boys' student body.

Freshmen survive the day.

Unfinished gym does not inhibit student actors.

Girls prepare for fashion show.

Throughout the year Alemanians participate in long-to-be remembered student activities.

Students revive true spirit of Halloween.

Social Life

New gym hosts "Evening Interlude."

Snack bar opens on Sports Day.

Prom brings smiles.

Interests All

Students portray Sisters' history.

Ruth Etting and Al Jolson co-star in Junior Jinx.

Variety in the social program and ingenuity in presentations win the wholehearted approval of the student body.

Daughters enjoy dancing with dads.

Aleman High School offers every educational advantage to her student body. Well-planned college preparatory courses are supplemented by profitable electives for cultural growth. Contributing to educational development, the library program, aided by a well-equipped business department, prepares students for responsible positions, and many girls pass their Civil Service Examinations before graduation. Such progress in both academic and commercial fields is made possible through the united efforts of teachers and students.

Ever Working

Priest prepares seniors for years ahead through marriage course.

Religion and guidance classes prove to be a help in preparing students for future life regardless of what vocation is chosen.

Prayer increases faith.

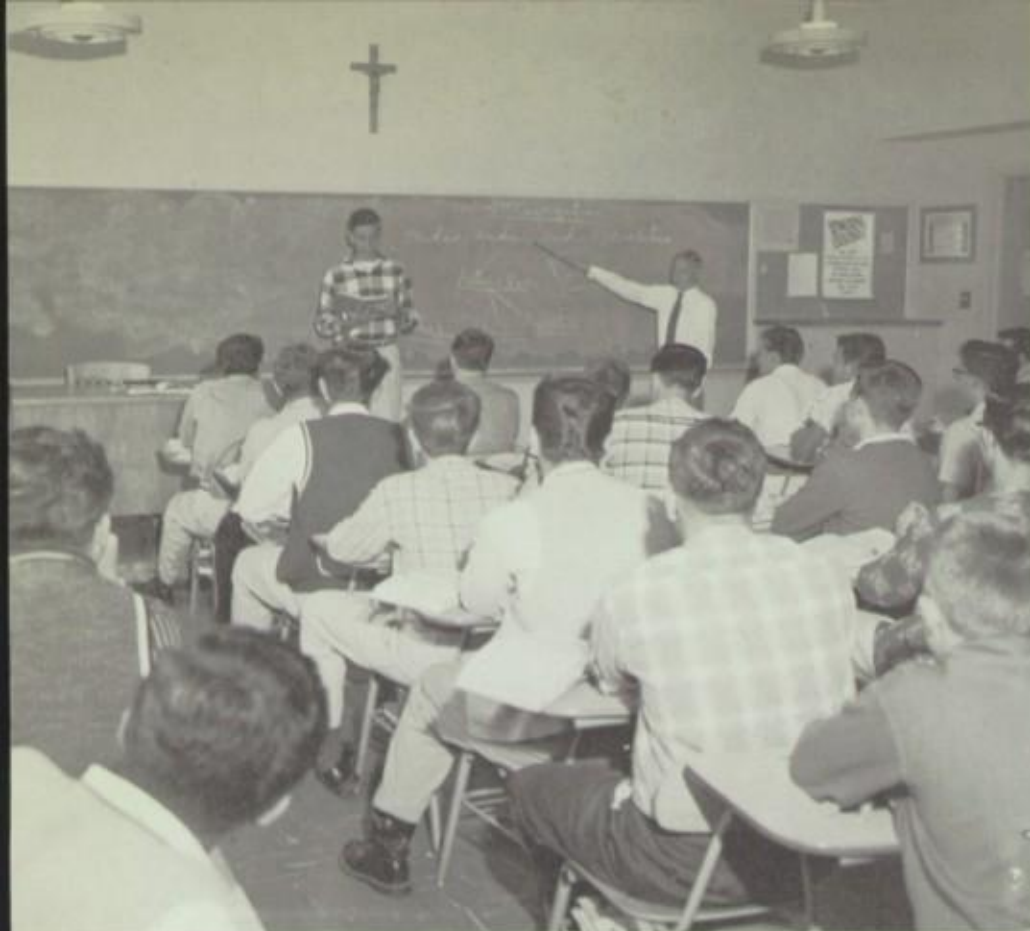

Religion Molds Staunch Catholics

Student explains levels of existence.

Guidance is made integral part of religion classes.

Use of infinitive is explained.

Roman days become alive.

Students Conquer Language Skills

Study conquers languages.

The study of the romance languages of Latin and Spanish contributes to the students' quest for knowledge.

Spanish caption adds to atmosphere.

English Courses

Diagramming helps English usage.

Students record "Life with Father."

Shakespeare enraptures seniors.

English provides students with a better understanding of the "American" language, enabling proper usage to be carried on in daily life.

Journalism class sets up newspaper.

Offer Variety

Winning composition shows style and originality.

Sophomores discover new reading material.

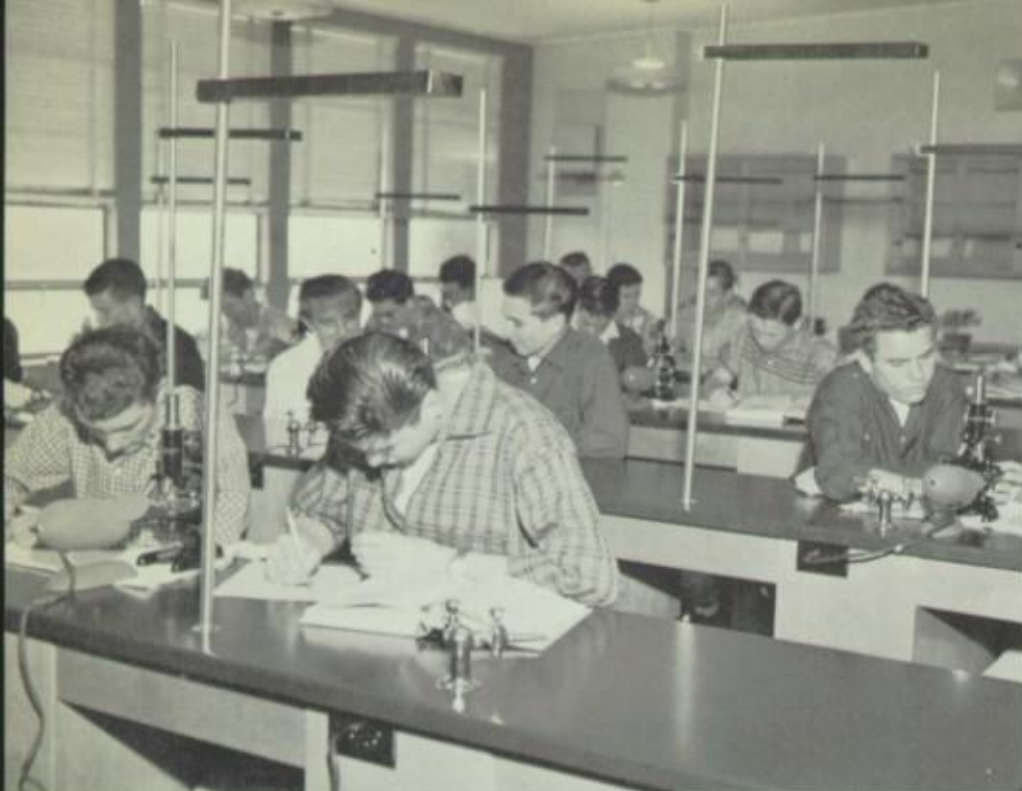

Group discussion promotes better understanding.

Literature, as a vital part of the English course, helps to provide an appreciation of artistic values and the ability to read critically.

"Silas Marner" holds the attention of all.

Biology students probe into microscopic world.

Chemistry students work on experiment.

Both lecture and lab interest many students at Alemany. With anticipation young scientists look forward to the time when they will have an opportunity of constructing projects for the science fair.

Young Scientists Experiment

Careful analysis is needed for science.

Students generate electricity in physics.

Algebra students explain multiplication of trinomials.

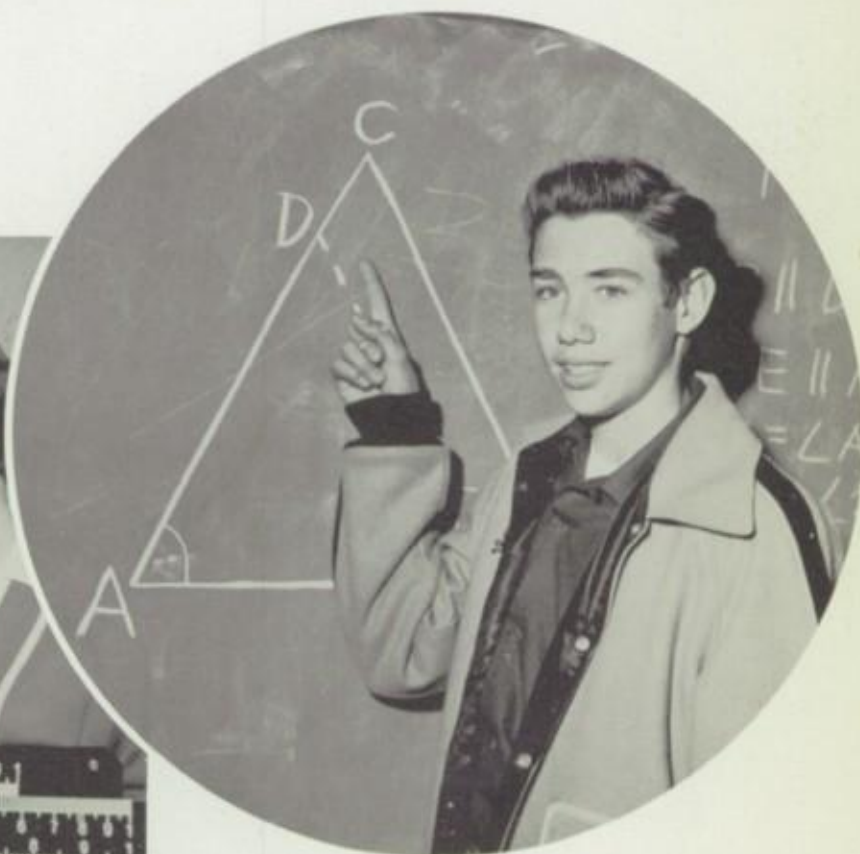

Mystery of nine-point circle is solved.

Future teachers, surveyors, and engineers busily study the different types of mathematics necessary for their careers in life. Mathematics trains the student to concentrate and to realize his mental capacity more fully.

Mathematics Sparks Thinking

Higher mathematics presents a challenge.

Properties of isosceles triangle are explained.

Globe study broadens minds.

History, giving the student a better understanding of his American heritage, helps the mind to expand in knowledge.

Maps help to locate world events.

History Relives

Greek history is made visual.

Civics trains for active citizenship.

Income tax returns are simplified by students.

Future business women learn the ways and means to attain their goal through continuous practice and whole-hearted effort.

Typing students improve their skill.

Techniques Develop

Adding machines aid future accountants.

Students pause before more dictation.

Students rehearse
"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay."

Electives Enrich

Art challenges creative ability.

Extracurricular subjects of drama, art, and glee help students to attain aesthetic and cultural values and perfect their skills.

Glee club engenders life-long appreciation of music.

Students practice
"Missa De Angelis."

Student Culture

Techniques of public speaking are learned.

Cultural electives offer to the student body numerous opportunities to discover and develop their talents under able supervision.

Talents are developed in art studio.

Aiming to develop character and physical prowess, the physical education departments boast the advantages of an integrated sports program and professional coaching for both boys' and girls' teams. The Lettermen and Letter-girls Clubs and the Girls' Athletic Association have given strong motivation to maximum achievement, and the addition of the new gym this year has given a magnificent boost to the Alemany morale.

Through the combined efforts of students and faculty, the range and number of Alemany's activities have increased during the 1957-1958 scholastic year, not only sportswise, but in academic, cultural, and social fields as well.

Ever Striving

Always Brave To Be

Athletics Form

Athletic officers, Dennis Jones, Robert Mann, and Robert McCleneghan discuss future plans.

This year Alemany Boys' Department has had outstanding sports success and looks forward to a future promising many triumphs for the school.

Gymnastics build strong bodies.

Healthy Citizens

Various sports, teaching the value of sportsmanship and the need of teamwork, prove a help in forming the characters of Alemany girls.

Active on volleyball varsity are Rosina Gomez, Mary Ann Shappek, Patricia Cosindas, Susan Baldewicz, Coleen Streff, Lillian Shoenmann, Susan Blackley, Joan Swiniuch, Marcia Hall, Rita Mong, Barbara Paulsen, Mary De Wigg, and Geraldine Murray.

Leading the girls in a successful sports program are GAA officers: Rosina Gomez (president), Mary Landy, Anita Cross, Barbara Paulsen, and Jeanette Nolet.

Jo Ann Stevenson, Monica Quiroz, Rosina Gomez, Rose Marie Lemus, Geraldine Murray, Judy Smith, Sandra Sciortino, (second row) Anita Cross, Mary Krueper, Joan Swiniuch, Susan Blackley, Marcia Hall, Rita Mong, and Barbara Paulsen make up Alemany's basketball varsity.

Synchronized exercises invigorate girls.

Boys Excel

Crusaders capture second place in Naismith Tournament.

in Sports

Added to the sports program this year was baseball which proved very successful and was a challenge to sports-minded students.

Speed and skill combine in forming Alemany team into true athletes.

Varsity grid stars spark pigskin sport.

Games Supply

Forming "V" for victory is the senior class team. Members include Joan Swiniuch, Kathleen Sweeney, Patricia Cosindas, Claire Bartley, Geraldine Murray, Rosina Gomez, Irene Gizzi, Mary Landy, Wana Van Cantfort, Rose Marie Lemus, and Lillian Schoenmann.

Skillful players through practice and effort help to promote unity by encouraging school spirit and enthusiasm through inter-class and school matches.

Susan Blackley jumps to score point.

Joan Swiniuch surprises opposite team.

Exciting Events

Membership in Lettergirls' Club shows the athletic achievement of Joan Swiniuch, Rose Marie Lemus, Rita Mong, Mary Landy, Geraldine Murray and Rosina Gomez.

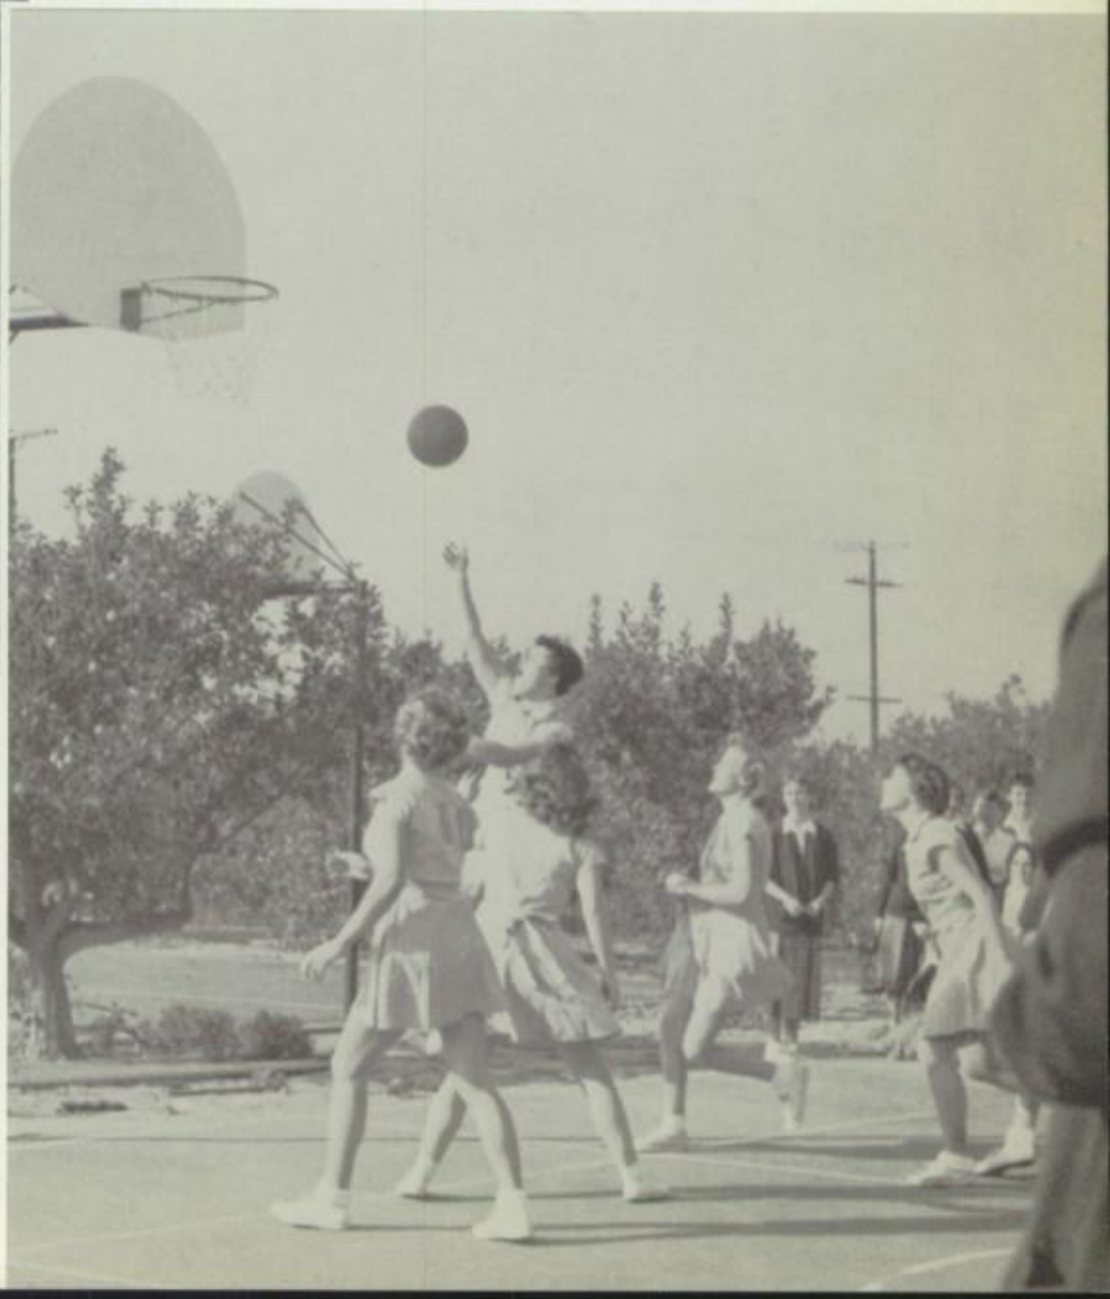

Smiles through defeat or victory showed the sportsmanship of the teams and the ever friendly spirit of Alemany girls.

Determination shows spirit of players.

Rita Mong leaps to make basket.

Staffs Labor for School Publications

The MISSIONAIRE, Alemany High School's first school paper, achieved remarkable success in its first year through the interest and hard work of its staff. Also the RECUERDOS staff has spent many busy and happy hours striving to produce a memorable yearbook.

Explaining the story of a yearbook are staff members: Irene Gizzi, John Steinbeck, Michael Shroff, Rose Marie Lemus (co-editor), Helen Aragon (editor), Carol Donahue, Joan Swiniuch, (second row) Eleanor Waracka, Regina Ward, Victor Rendon, Florence Handal, Daniel Mrowicki, Glenn Cobain, Patricia Cosindas, Judith Kill.

sports banquet

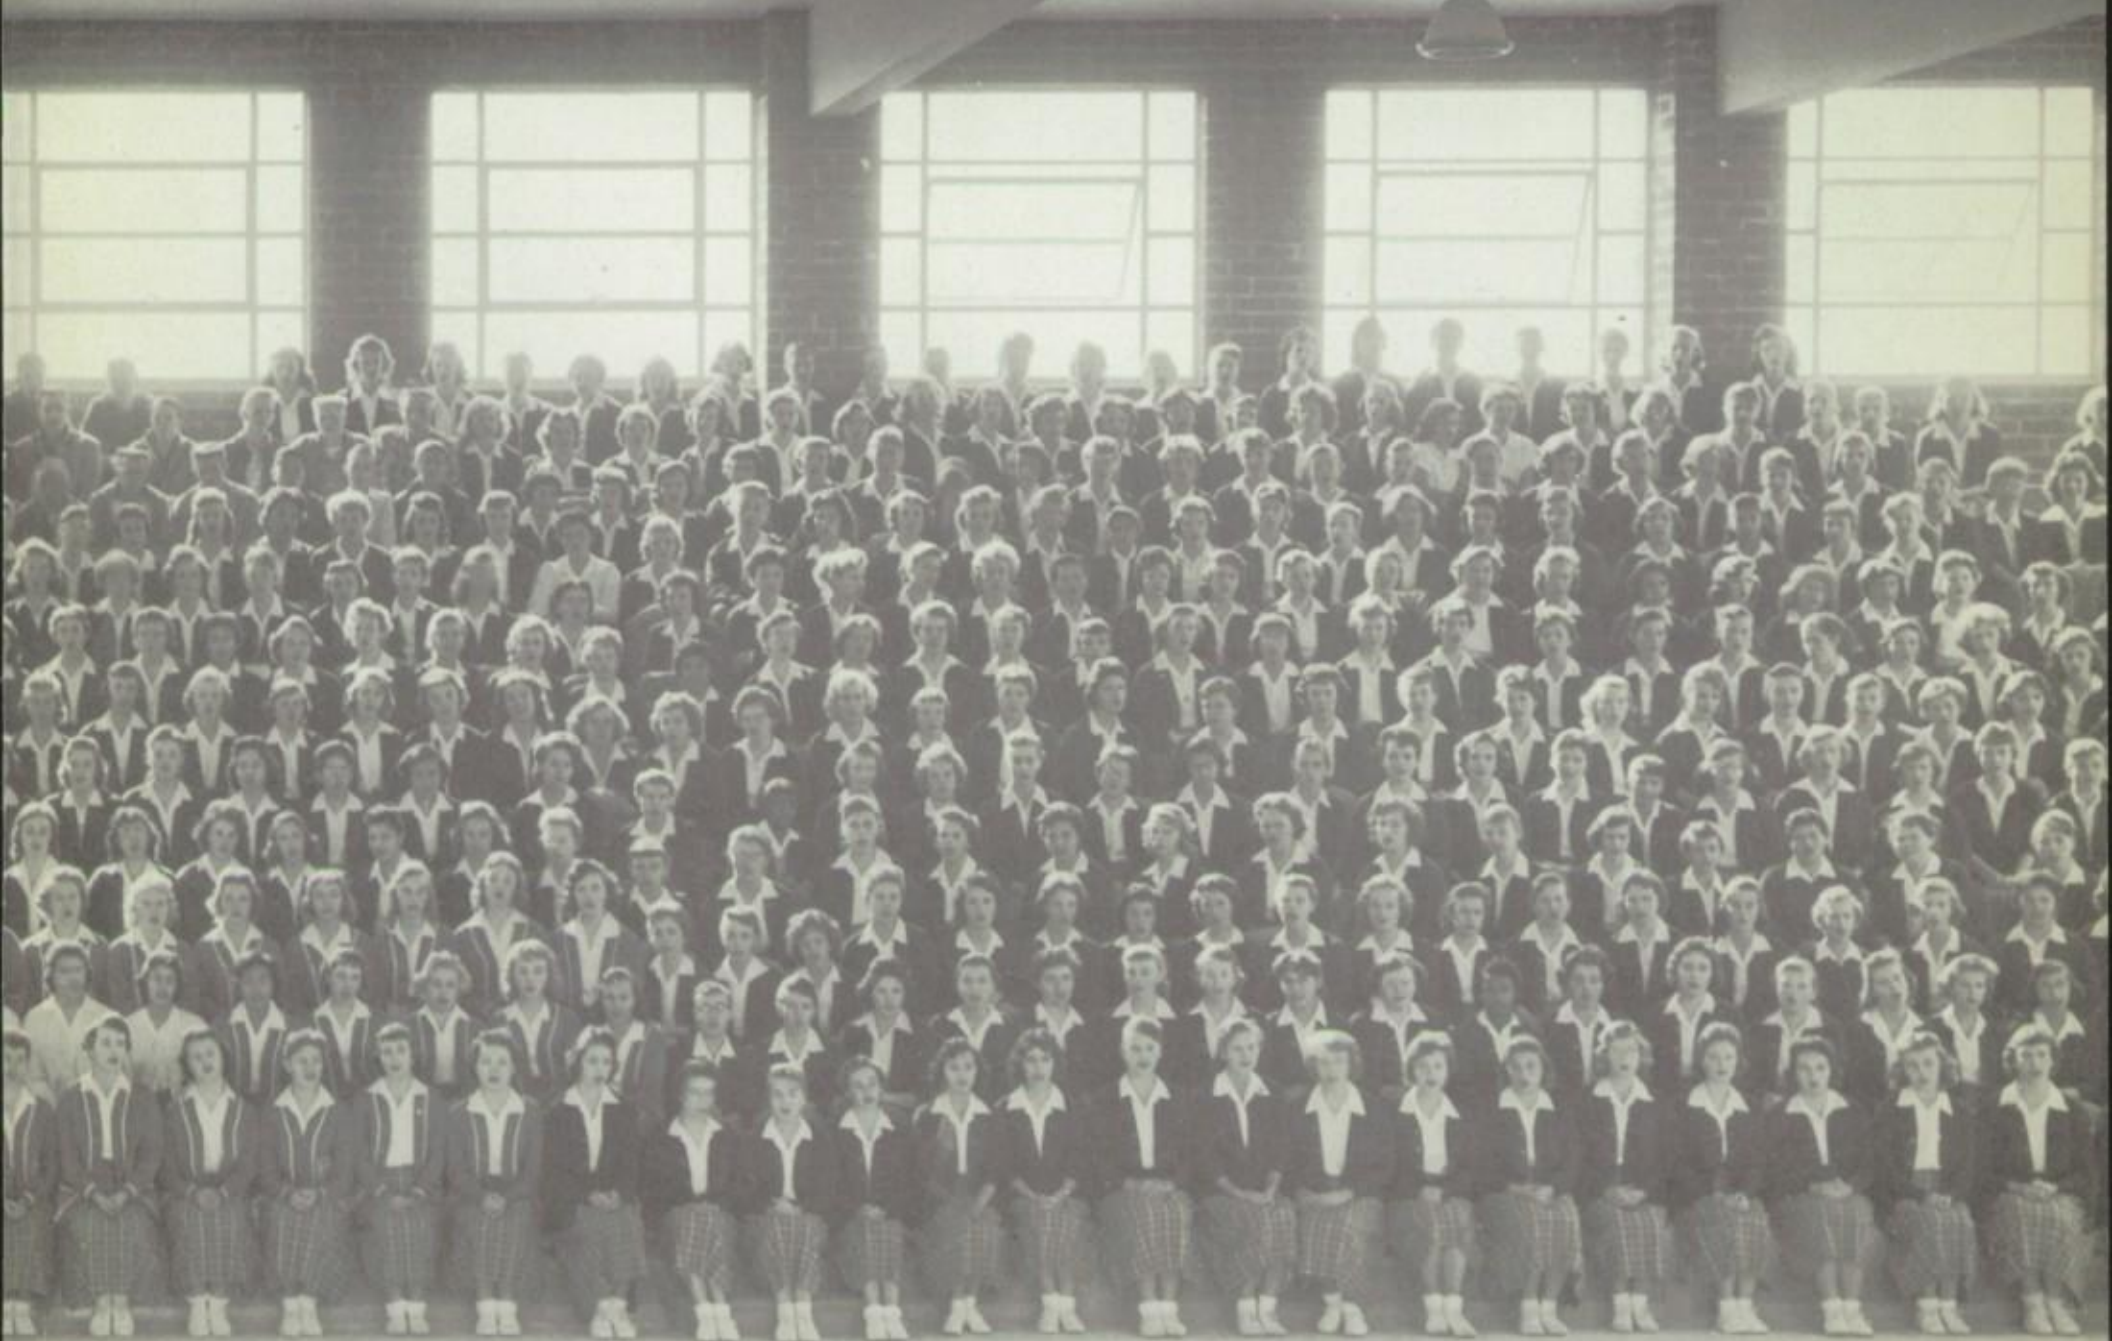

With great loyalty and enthusiasm the student body of Alemany High School sings its Alma Mater from the bleachers of the new gym. Each member is justly proud of the growth of his school during the two years of its existence, and appreciates the new buildings, classes, and educational facilities added through the sacrifices of the people of the archdiocese and the wise planning of administrators. United in song, Alemany students are united also in the purpose of Christlike living through daily prayer, study and extra curricular activities.
